COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

MONDAY

Mon, 9:15 a.m. – 10:45 a.m. LONDON IN THE TIME OF DICKENS (May 6-20 and June 3-17) (Zoom)

Moderator: R. Greg Hesterberg. By the beginning of Queen Victoria's reign in 1837, London was already the largest city in the world with a population of 2 million, but by 1901, she would triple in size to 7 million. This unprecedented growth, coupled with the effects of the Industrial Revolution, resulted in a "tale of two cities" within one city. This course looks at the high-water mark of London at her peak through the lens of writer Charles Dickens. It is based on a new Great Courses release with added content and collateral. This is a course for those interested in both history and literature. We will cover two of the 12 lectures each session, complete with discussion and, knowing this moderator, some comedy and other related fun material. NOTE: Class is limited to 40 participants.

Mon, 9:15 a.m. – 10:45 a.m. VIEWS ON THE NEWS (Zoom)

Co-Moderators: Doug Shier and Steve Bravy. This class provides an open round table format that promotes the respectful discussion of events at the world-wide, national, state and local levels. At each meeting, volunteers present current topics and encourage the exchange of ideas, in order to share and learn. The conversations and information exchanges are respectfully managed by the moderators, using agreed upon operating guidelines to ensure that meeting etiquette and decorum are followed. NOTE: Class is limited to 20 participants.

Mon, 11:15 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. QUEST FOR NATURE AND PERSONAL FREEDOM IN CONSTRICTED SOCIETIES (On-site)

Moderator: Michele Levy. Throughout history, many have sought to escape from highly regulated societies that are increasingly severed from the natural world. Even today, too many are fleeing their rigid homelands, though their choices often lead to addiction, criminality, and religious and political extremism. By closely reading and discussing Dostoevsky's Notes from Underground (published 1864) and his The Gambler (published 1867), followed by D. H. Lawrence's St. Mawr (published 1925), we shall come to better understand the reasons for such flight. Both authors propose that only reconnection with the natural world, as opposed to man-made structures, can offer longed for freedom regardless of the time period, even our own. Please purchase the Oxford University Press combined edition of Notes and The Gambler, 2008, and the Vintage Reissue, 1959, of St. Mawr. NOTE: Class size is limited to 15

Mon, 1:00 p.m. – 2:45 p.m. SHORT STORY: THE ART OF THE TALE (May 6-20 and June 3) (On-site)

Co-Moderators: Lori-Anne Shapiro and Carolyn Brown. Come aboard this exciting journey as we explore the short story, a unique and compelling literary genre. Each week, a class member selects a story from either those available free downloadable sites or from The Art of the Tale, an international anthology, edited by Daniel Halperin, in the 1987 edition (easily available new and used). During class, that member will present a brief biographical background on the writer and then facilitate discussion of the story. The rest of us will have read the story in advance of class and come prepared for discussion. A series of guest speakers was a new feature added during preceding terms, which received resounding enthusiasm, therefore might be scheduled for this term.

TUESDAY

Tu, 9:15 a.m. – 10:45 a.m. SEX IN THE MIDDLE AGES (May 7-June 11) (Zoom)

Moderator: R Greg Hesterberg. Each generation oddly thinks it has discovered sex and that other peoples in past times, like the Victorians, the Puritans, etc. somehow avoided it. This includes the people of the Middle Ages, from the fall of Rome to the Renaissance. Nothing can be further from the truth. In this new Great Courses offering, we will look at love, intimacy and sex during the so-called “Dark Ages” (spoiler alert...the age was never dark) in 12 lectures. We will cover two lectures per session, complete with what should be lively discussion and many great laughs. Come see and learn what you missed by not living in the Middle Ages and ... without any “sexy time” back then, few of us would be here today. NOTE: Class is limited to 40 participants.

Tu, 9:15 a.m. – 10:45 a.m. GREAT MINDS OF THE EASTERN INTELLECTUAL TRADITION, PART II (Zoom)

Co-Moderators: Jack Narayan, Joe Swain, Vasant Bhardwaj, and Raghu Ballal. This course, a continuation of the session started in Winter 2024, will continue to focus on the most significant thinkers in Asian history. Attention will be given to influential Eastern figures in philosophy, religion, history, literature, political science, and technology from ancient times until the coming of the West. We will discuss: (1) Influential Chinese historians - Sima Qian and Ban Zhao; (2) The continued evolution of Confucianism and Daoism - Dong Zhongshu; (3) The growth of Chinese Buddhism - Xuanzang; (4) Japanese Buddhism - Shotoku, Saicho, Nichiren; (5) Hindu Vedanta teachers - Shankara, Madhva, Ramanuja; (6) Islam in India - Al Biruni; and (7) Sikhism and Sufism – balancing Islam and Hinduism – Nanak and Sirhind. New members are welcome as we explore the Great Courses, “Great Thinkers of Eastern Philosophy,” one lecture per meeting.

Tu, 11:15 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. GRAPPLING WITH THE CHALLENGES OF READING THE ADVENTURES OF HUCKLEBERRY FINN (On-site)

Moderator: Nancy Goudreau. In the style of a road novel, Huckleberry and escaped slave Jim first hide on an island, then float south on the dangerous Mississippi River – to seek freedom from the constrictions of American civilization. Through Huck’s eyes and voice, we will experience primitive river travel and shore adventures they shared, many of which were humorous. Also, we’ll witness how they nurture the development of each other’s self-knowledge. Class sessions will involve oral readings and discussion, especially about why this designated ‘masterpiece’ in American literature is still vehemently fought over and/or banned by U.S. educational institutions. Controversy rests on its: *authentic use of pre-Civil War vernacular; antebellum racism and false depictions of Christian morality; and society’s commonplace hypocrisy and evils. Also, most critics revile the book's contrived last chapters, hinting that the author couldn't or wouldn't take a stand. Class members will be expected to read 30-40 pages per week in: Adventures of Huckleberry Finn, by Mark Twain, any 1885 edition. NOTE: Class is limited to 15 enrollees.

Tu, 11:15-12:45. CLIMATE CHANGE: WE ARE RUNNING OUT OF TIME (Zoom)

Moderator: Frank Princiotta. We will explore what the latest science tells us about the magnitude of the climate existential threat and actions needed to minimize the damage. Topics include: (1) recent scientific findings, e.g., the recent IPCC 6th Assessment Reports; (2) publications arguing that cascading tipping points could potentially lead to uncontrollable global warming and rapid warming in 2023; and (3) the recent paper by James Hansen where he argues that warming since 2010 has been accelerating. Also, Frank will discuss climate change drivers and challenges: what impacts have we seen and what's expected; and what technologies and actions will be necessary from both global and U.S. perspectives. Plus, he will discuss household-level actions to reduce greenhouse gas emissions; and proposals for controversial geoengineering options to slow the warming, such as emulating volcanoes. Frank will give lectures, supplemented with relevant videos and PowerPoint graphics and will welcome questions and discussion during and after presentations.

Tu, 11:15 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. PLAY READING (On-site) (May 7-June 11)

Moderator: Meyer Liberman. If you enjoy theater and would like to participate in reading and/or acting in favorite one-act plays by respected playwrights with a small friendly group – this might be a choice for you. Our goal is to have an enjoyable time and advance our knowledge and understanding of this more condensed form of theater. Our selection of plays come from 24 Favorite Plays, edited by Bennett Cerf and Van H. Cartmell, which includes those of well-known and famous playwrights as: Yeats, Tennessee Williams, Thornton Wilder, Eugene O'Neill, Oscar Wilde and others. Class members will be encouraged (but not required) to select one play, assign roles, provide some background material on the author and lead/participate in a brief post-play discussion. Past Winter Spotlight class members and those on a wait list will have a priority period to register for one week before April 8. NOTE: Class is limited to 10, to provide members with enough reading roles.

WEDNESDAY

Wed, 11:00 a.m. – 12:30 p.m. SHARING WRITTEN PERSONAL HISTORIES (May 8-June 5) (Zoom)

Moderator: Christine Everhart. Only we can document our personal experiences, reactions and perceptions during dynamic times. We will support each other's individual efforts to record in writing what we have lived through and to encourage our developing sense of accomplishments. Each participant will: write beforehand about episodes and decisions they made in their lives; read aloud their writing; and give attention to and appreciate the telling of the experiences and/or insights of others. We will also be able to share illustrations and photos on-line. NOTES: Class is limited to 20 participants. Participants new to this course are welcome.

Wed, 11:00 a.m. – 12:00 p.m. SPANISH CONVERSATIONS (Zoom)

Moderator: Melissa Hardy-Trevenna. This course presents an opportunity to improve your spoken Spanish. It is aimed at speakers with "advanced beginning" and "intermediate-level" skills. We are a friendly group of people with varying levels of fluency. We talk in Spanish about anything we want, such as current events, books, movies and visited places. Sometimes a member will distribute a Spanish article in advance for our review at the next meeting. NOTES: Limited to 10 people, with preference given to returning course members. New students are welcome.

Wed, 11:15 a.m. - 12:45 p.m. BELLA ITALIA: THE ITALIAN TALES OF ELIZABETH SPENCER (May 8-29) (On-site)

Moderator: Carolyn Brown. A Mississippi native, Elizabeth Spencer left the South in her late twenties and lived in Italy and Canada before settling in Chapel Hill, where she died at age 98. Quite prolific, she published nine novels, eight short story collections, a memoir and a play. Compared by the New York Times to fellow Mississippians William Faulkner and Eudora Welty, she too, examined “racism, subtle class distinctions, and a universe of prejudices.” She also has been compared to Henry James for her “portrayals of expatriate Americans caught in crises far from home.” Spencer’s best-known work, the novella, The Light in the Piazza (1960), was adapted for both film (1962) and Broadway (2005), winning six Tony awards. Through oral readings, short lectures, critical biographical context and discussion, we will analyze Spencer’s famous novella and several short stories from her collection: The Light in the Piazza and Other Italian Tales. (Carolyn recommends the 1996 University Press of Mississippi Edition). NOTE: Class size is limited to 15 members.

Wed, 1:15 p.m. – 2:45 p.m. CRAFTING JOYFUL CONNECTIONS (On-site)

Moderator: Kris Yensen. Do you have an art or craft project in mind, but not the space or motivation to start – or complete it? Let’s get together and have some fun sharing ideas and supplies in a great space where we can spread out (and clean up easily)! Come if you like to color, paint, doodle, do calligraphy, knit, crochet, make jewelry, model clay, collage, scrapbook -- or some other fun, portable thing I haven’t thought of yet. Join us if you just want to play and get your creative juices flowing. There will be no instruction and no homework (unless we feel like it). NO expertise required; perfectionism is discouraged. You will not need to purchase anything – many fun supplies from my stash will be available – but feel free to bring in supplies you’d like to use and share; and wear comfy, washable clothes. NOTE: Bring a light snack if you wish.

Wed, 1:15 p.m. – 2:45 p.m. CRAVING CHANCES FOR DEEPER THINKING, PERSONAL PSYCHOLOGY-WISE (Every other Wednesday, beginning May 8) (On-site)

Facilitator: Nancy Goudreau. More of a gathering than a course, this informal get-together will provide us with an opportunity to expand and appreciate the empowerment available to us when we attempt a deeper consideration of our personal psychology. We will aim to explore our past/current behavior and attitudes that might have us locked into a stale existence. Are we reluctant or unable to change our long-established state of mind and behavior? How can/should/might we conceive deeper psychological insights to grow our perceptions? If so, what benefits are we missing or could we gain? Participants are welcome to propose meeting themes. (An example from last term: “What are the benefits and/or costs to you for maintaining friendships or relationships?”) Without judgment, we’ll share experiences and propose perspectives that will demonstrate and elaborate on each theme, different per meeting. Also, participants will be welcome to facilitate meetings. NOTE: Class size is limited to 15.

THURSDAY

Th, 11:00 a.m. – 1:30 p.m. COMPARATIVE FILM ANALYSIS (May 9-June 6) (On-site)

Moderator: Dan Brenner. The Spring Session of the Comparative Film Analysis class has in the past been focused on music and musicians. We will continue that tradition with this Spring's review of movies. We will view and then discuss the following five films: 1) Love & Mercy; 2) Amadeus; 3) Whiplash; 4) Mr. Holland's Opus; and 5) Rock the Casbah. NOTES: Films will be presented with closed captions when possible (some DVDs may not have that feature). To allow time for both viewing and critique of the films, this class begins at 11:00 AM and ends at 1:30 PM. Class size is limited to 35.

Th, 11:15 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. THE FINAL F OF READING METAMORPHOSES (On-site) CANCELLED

Moderator: Nancy Goudreau. Class members in the Fall 2023-Winter 2024 course have reached near the conclusion of Ovid's Metamorphoses, where he confidently vows in his epilogue (where 'Jove' is 'Augustus Caesar'): "I've made a masterpiece Jove's wrath cannot...destroy, nor flame, nor steel, nor gnawing time....That day, which governs nothing but my body,...can end at will my life's uncertain span....And yet my finer half will be eternal,...borne among stars. My name can't be erased.....My fame will last across the centuries. If poets'...prophecies can hold any truth, I'll live." It seems the more we read aloud, researched and discussed Ovid's poetic myths, the richer and deeper appreciation we experienced, exemplifying his final words. If you want to be introduced to classical literature by a Roman master, join us for our final four meetings (to review 12 pages per week). Enter a world in which those eternal gods and goddesses rule, victimize and metamorphosize mortals, with little pity. (Translator Stephanie McCarter's text, 2022, is available as a used book and for $5.00 on Kindle.)

Th, 11:15 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. PSYCHEDELICS: PLANT MEDICINE THROUGH THE AGES (May 9-30) (On-site)

Moderator: Matt Epstein. For over 10,000 years, numerous cultures benefited from psychoactive plants. They were commonly used for healing, knowledge, spiritual development and religious rituals. In the last 60 years, governments criminalized such substances to attack and silence political opponents and minority populations. Governments knew then how effective psychoactive plants were in treating mental health conditions, but discussing mental health was taboo. Depression, anxiety, addictions, PTSD and eating disorders have become epidemic and it is now more common to discuss them openly. Given the ineffectiveness and side effects of alternative methods, psychedelics have started to overcome artificial taboos. In line with profit-oriented practices, psychedelics are treated as alternative pharmaceuticals with "trip" side effects. They are actually mind-enhancing substances with the side effect of ameliorating mental health conditions. This four-week course, with a combination of presentation, questions and discussion, will cover the properties of psychedelics, historical uses and criminalization, research results and their effectiveness. We will learn what a "trip" really is and why it is so beneficial.

Th, 11:15 a.m. – 12:45 p.m. WE ARE NOT ALONE: NON-HUMAN INTELLIGENCE (June 6-27) (On-site)

Moderator: Matt Epstein. Humans have relatively large brains that we have used to help us survive based on our needs for food, shelter, procreation and safety from predators. Other species have developed their own mechanisms, often quite amazing and beyond human comprehension. Do you know that single-celled slime molds perform mathematical operations well beyond human capacity, even when we use high-powered computers? In this course we will look at how other species have developed their own forms of intelligence. Among those species, we will look at viruses, bacteria, fungi, slime mold, insects, birds, fish, octopuses and of course other mammals. We will also examine how their brains evolved so differently from ours, but equally effective, and sometimes more effective. This four week course will be mostly presentation along with a number of videos and hopefully a lot of lively discussion.

Th, 1:15 a.m. – 2:45 p.m. CARL JUNG: HOW UNDERSTANDING DREAMS CAN EMPOWER PERSONAL GROWTH (June 6-27) (On-site)

Moderator: C. Michael Thompson. In four lectures, Michael, an avid lay Jungian scholar and advocate, will enlighten us about Jungian dream theory and practice, plus, (in lecture three), share a Jungian process to enable us to interpret our own dreams outside the course. In lectures one and two, he will introduce us to Jung's views, now foundational to our understanding of psychology – about the personal and collective unconscious, as well as typical symbols, motifs and figures which populate anyone's dreams. All illustrative dreams that he includes during class meetings will derive from historical figures, sacred texts and Jung's clinical practices and students. In the last lecture, we will review Jung's concepts about unplanned, seemingly spontaneous connections that we may experience in life ("synchronicity") and some unconscious processes that can help us resolve life's most difficult dilemmas. (As references to use before the course begins, any class member might like to check book titles by: Robert A. Johnson, Marie-Louise Von Franz and/or John A. Sanford.) NOTE: Class size is limited to 20.

FRIDAY

Fri, 9:30 a.m. – 11:00 a.m. DEUTSCHE KONVERSATIONSGRUPPE (Zoom)

Moderator: Andrew O'Brien. For those German speakers who wish to maintain their fluency, this course will provide you with information and cordial opportunities to converse in German. We'll refer to articles in German newspapers, magazines, and select interesting topics about current German and American events. Each class meeting will be conducted entirely in German, but not include German grammar instructions. NOTE: German speakers new to this course are welcome.
